

WHEN IT RAINS, IT POURS

While we work through business challenges in the banking industry, we also confront significant and new employment regulatory obligations. Compliance and liability avoidance has never been more demanding. We will be participating with Cris Naser of the American Bankers Association on two (2) telephone briefings regarding these new challenges in late April and early May. We will discuss, very specifically, the legal regulatory change, how it impacts community banks, and what steps you should take as a Human Resource professional. We will also supply “take and use” materials to facilitate your efforts.

Attached is a brief description of the two (2) programs. If additional detail would be helpful, please feel free to follow-up with the ABA or with us.
