

FMLA REGULATIONS RELIEF AND BURDEN

The Department of Labor finalized new FMLA regulations, which will become effective in mid January. The new regulations update the legal standards and further define obligations to military families. Given the complexity and significance of the new regulations, we will be participating in a telephone briefing, sponsored by the American Bankers Association. That two hour telephone briefing is scheduled for December 16.

More about this briefing

If your organization is governed by the FMLA, we would encourage you to participate in this program.
